Showcases have become the place for skill development and talent evaluation. These events are a must-see for recruiters and pro scouts because of the top talent they draw.

Babe Ruth League, Inc. is proud to again join forces with the All-Star Baseball Academy to offer the 2nd Annual Babe Ruth National Collegiate Showcase scheduled for August 21-22, 2010 at the Babe Ruth League National Complex in Newark, Ohio. The Babe Ruth Complex is a 30-acre state-of-the-art baseball and softball facility. The complex features four major league diamonds. Two of them have quality lighting systems and grandstand seating for thousands of fans. In addition, there are four batting cages and indoor facilities for workouts. Minor League settings for Professional League Dreams!

If you know of any serious baseball prospects who have the necessary skills to take it to the next level, the Babe Ruth Collegiate Showcase is for them. It's a great opportunity for athletes to experience a fast-paced, competitive training camp that revels in the fun of playing baseball and one in which they will be evaluable by college coaches and professional scouts in a specialized format. They will get to see what the coach/scout is looking for and THEY WILL BE SEEN!
